MAINTENANCE OF CERTIFICATION (MOC)

Participants in this activity will have an opportunity to earn up to 20 Self-Assessment credits (SAM). These modules meet the ABR’s criteria for a self-assessment activity in the ABR Maintenance of Certification program.
This week-long course is designed for radiologists in clinical practice or in-training. The program will provide practical information to enhance image-acquisition and interpretation skills using imaging modalities such as CT, MRI, ultrasound, and plain films. Experienced faculty will highlight key ‘pearls’ and potential ‘pitfalls’ you want to avoid as well as how to search for subtle findings. Selected topics in neuroradiology, head and neck, abdominal, chest, musculoskeletal and pediatric radiology will be covered.

*To satisfy Maintenance of Certification (MOC) Part 2, the ABR requires diplomates to attain 75 CME credits every three years, at least 25 of which must be from Self-Assessment CME (SAMS) activities. This course satisfies more than 30% of the CME credit requirement and 80% of the SA-CME requirements.
COURSE OBJECTIVES
Upon completion of this activity, participants should be able to:

- Apply the current advances in radiology for accurate image interpretation of adult and pediatric diseases of the brain, neck, chest, abdomen, and joints
- Design and implement appropriate imaging protocols that optimize diagnostic accuracy and minimize radiation exposure particularly in the pediatric population
- Identify high yield diagnoses throughout multiple specialties of radiology
- Review common imaging artifacts, anatomic variants, and critical diagnoses and make appropriate management recommendations
